HISTORY OF THE INSTITUTION.

CHARTER.

In the year 1784, the Legislature of Georgia passed an Act, approved February 25th of that year, laying out what were then called the counties of Franklin and Washington, though the territory embraced includes perhaps as many as a dozen or more of the present counties. The 11th Section of this Act conveyed forty thousand acres of these lands, then wild, to the Governor, for the time being, and certain other persons named, in trust, for the endowment of a College or Seminary of Learning, there being at that time no such institution in existence. This was the germ. In the following year, 1785, an Act was passed, approved on the 29th day of January, by which a charter was granted to the persons above spoken of, and certain others named in addition, as trustees of an institution to be established and to be called "THE UNIVERSITY OF GEORGIA."

The institution existed only on paper until the year 1801, when Governor John Milledge gave to the Trustees, for the benefit of the University, six hundred and thirty acres of land, on a part of which the University buildings are now situated, and on a part of which also a large portion of the city of Athens is built. The original intention of the Legislature was to erect buildings for the University at Louisville, in Jefferson county,* but the donation of Governor Milledge changed the plan.

Soon after this, the institution went into operation, and was sustained partly by the rent of the lands given to it by the State. In that early day, English ideas prevailed largely among our fathers, and it was thought that a long rent roll was the best of all endowments. Experience soon proved that in this new country the renting of lands was not profitable; and some of the lands were sold, and the College was sustained from the proceeds. It was soon discovered that this plan was also unwise, and afterwards the lands were all sold, payment being made in the notes of the purchasers, secured by mortgage.

ORIGIN OF THE $8,000 ANNUITY.

By the Act of December 16, 1815, the State authorized the Governor to advance to the Trustees any amount of money not exceeding two-thirds of the amount called for by these notes, and to receive the notes in lieu of the same. One hundred thousand dollars was the sum agreed upon; but as the money was not paid, this amount was regarded as a debt due to the University by the State, and it was agreed that interest should be paid upon the same at the rate of eight per cent. In compliance with this arrangement, the sum of eight thousand dollars has been annually paid by the State to the University regularly down to the present day.

DESTRUCTION OF THE BUILDINGS AND LIBRARY BY FIRE.

In 1830, one of the main College buildings, including the Library and a portion of the apparatus, was destroyed by fire; and to replace the loss thus occasioned, and also to aid in current expenses, a donation was made by the Legislature of $6,000 a year, and this was continued from 1830 until 1841.

From this time until 1875, a period of thirty four years, nothing was done for the University by the State. In February of that year an Act was passed, giving $5,000 a year for three years to the "Georgia State College of Agriculture and the Mechanic Arts," which is a branch of the University, the origin and history of which will be hereinafter set forth.

So far as is known, the University has received from the State no benefactions, other than those above mentioned.

DONATIONS BY DR. WILLIAM TERRELL AND THE CITY OF ATHENS.

In 1854, Dr. William Terrell, of Hancock county, bequeathed to the University $20,000, which it still retains; and in 1873, the city of Athens gave the Institution $25,000 for the erection of the new building known as "Moore College."

By good management the Trustees have, in various ways, increased the funds of the Institution, so that they are now larger than would appear from the above record. A statement of the assets will be hereinafter made.

CHARLES M'DONALD BROWN SCHOLARSHIP FUND.

This endowment was established at the University in 1881, by Hon. Joseph E. Brown, ex-Governor of Georgia, who has been for over a quarter of a century a member of the Board of Trustees of the University.

Charles McDonald Brown, a noble Christian youth, of fine intellectual and business capacity, died while prosecuting his studies at the University. He was named for the late Gov. Charles J. McDonald, and, at the time of his death, was already possessed of some estate, which he mainly left to his father and mother.

Governor Brown, desiring to advance the interests of the University, and aid worthy young men of the State in their efforts to get an education, and, at the same time, wishing to perpetuate the name of his deceased son, and that of his old friend, Gov. McDonald, donated to the University fifty thousand dollars, money that might have been possessed by his son, if he had lived, to be known as "The Charles McDonald Brown Scholarship Fund." The interest on this amount is to be loaned out to worthy young men, who, unaided, would not be able to acquire a University education, on the condition that they refund the money thus loaned, as soon as they can make it, after providing for their livelihood in an economical manner.

The amount which will be repaid by each student, with interest at 4 per cent., in return for the money he has received, is to be added annually to the principal of the endowment, and only the interest upon it is to be loaned in future, which will thus enable the University to increase the number of young men to whom loans are made. Any young man pursuing his studies for the purpose of preparing himself for the ministry, or who, after completing his studies, may devote himself to the work of the ministry as his profession, shall only be required to return one-half the amount loaned to him, with interest.

GILMER FUND.

The late Gov. George R. Gilmer, left $15,000 to Trustees, for the purpose of improving the "School masters of Georgia."

In August, 1884, these Trustees turned this sum over to the University.

FOUNDING OF THE STATE COLLEGE.

By an Act of the Congress of the United States, approved July 2, 1862, there was given to each of the States, for educational purposes, an amount of land equal in quantity to thirty thousand acres for each Senator and Representative to which said States were entitled under the apportionment of 1860. The State of Georgia, by the Act of March 10, 1866, accepted this grant of land on the conditions specified in the grant; and by the Act of December 12, 1866, the Governor was empowered to receive and sell the Scrip representing said land, and to invest the proceeds for the purposes mentioned in the grant.

On the 30th day of March, 1872, His Excellency, James M. Smith, Governor of Georgia, transferred the fund thus obtained to the Trustees of the University of Georgia; and on the 1st day of May, 1872, the said Trustees opened and established the "Georgia State College of Agriculture and the Mechanic Arts," the said Institution being a distinct organization, complete in its parts, but still being an integral part of the University of Georgia, controlled by the Trustees of the latter, and presided over by the Chancellor as ex officio. There are thus two Colleges in one. The students of both are taught by the officers of each, in the same lecture and recitation rooms, largely from the same text books, and frequently in the same classes.—The combination has been found to be harmonious and advantageous.

BRANCH COLLEGES.

By the same Act, the "North Georgia Agricultural College" was established at Dahlonega. It is sustained chiefly from the proceeds of the land-scrip fund, and is presided over by a distinct Faculty under the control of the Trustees and under the direction of the Chancellor of the University.

Subsequently three other Branch colleges were established, at Thomasville, Milledgeville and Cuthbert, all sustained mainly by the Land Scrip Fund.

MEDICAL DEPARTMENT.

The "Medical College of Georgia," situated in Augusta, which had, since its origin in 1830, maintained an independent existence, was, in August, 1873, merged into the University of Georgia, and is now its Medical Department.

The following statement shows the number of buildings belonging to the University, with the date (from memory) of erection, and the estimated cost of each:

THE LIBRARY.

The Library contains about fifteen thousand volumes, but no reliable estimate of its value can be made.

SUSPENSIONS.

In 1813 College exercises were suspended in consequence of the war with Great Britain.

In 1817, 1818 and 1819, from inability to organize the Faculty in a manner satisfactory to the Board of Trustees, the exercises of the University were again suspended.

In September, 1863, the Chancellor and Faculty and nearly all the students joined the Confederate army, and College exercises were consequently suspended. They were resumed January 1, 1866.

ALUMNI TRUSTEES.

In 1872 the charter of the University was so amended as to allow the Society of the Alumni to elect four of their own number to membership in the Board of Trustees. The Trustees hold office four years; and the arrangement is such, that one vacancy occurs every year, and is filled by the Alumni, at their annual meeting at Commencement.

AGRICULTURAL TRUSTEES.

In 1879 the charter of the University was so amended as to allow "The Georgia State Agricultural Society" to elect four additional Trustees, who shall be practical farmers, whose leading avocation shall be agriculture.

NOTICE.

In a Catalogue of the Alumni, issued after an interval of ten years, many and grave errors must necessarily occur. While the utmost efforts have been made to secure accuracy, the Secretary is assured that he has, owing to the impossibility of communicating with the Alumni, fallen far short of attaining his end. A copy of this Catalogue will be sent to all graduates whose address is known, and they and their friends are most earnestly and urgently requested to furnish information upon the following points, viz:

First.—Name of graduate in full, where initials, only, occur in the Catalogue.

Second.—Profession and present residence.

Third.—Public offices held.

Fourth.—Degrees received, and when and by what institution conferred.

Fifth.—By any friend or relative, notice of a graduate's death, with date of same, is earnestly solicited, wherever such death is not recorded in present Catalogue.

Sixth.—Correction of any errors, by any persons whomsoever, is urgently asked.

Communications may be addressed to

LAMAR COBB,
Secretary Board of Trustees.

EXPLANATIONS.
